The following statement/ endorsement is a true and factual representation which I have read and understood:

I for some reason had a paralyzing phobia of dogs. I would run for dear life or stay in my car to avoid dogs. I would not go to loved ones homes or to parks etc. The first time I was at a party and two dogs got loose (that had been put away for me) I ran etc. (I must have had a panic attack) and time I did something I found fear on-line. After the second session I was able to pet and walk my friends dog! Amazing! It has only continued to improve!! It really has changed my life and brought back pure normalcy
